

The no-call list has made a great positive change in the peace of our household. I hope the law will not be weakened. In fact, I support adding cell phone numbers to the no-call list and would be happy if charities and political callers would not be able to interrupt our privacy.